

Guidelines for authors of Interim Reports

Content

Interim reports should already include results for all of the analysis planned in the accepted proposal.

Goal

The goal is to prove that your project is progressing satisfactorily and that it can be reasonably assumed that your team will be able to prepare a final report in time for presentation at the next PEP general meeting if a member of the team (who plays an integral part in the analysis) participates in a 3- to 4-week study visit.

Format

Regarding the required format; please refer to the following page: <http://www.pep-net.org/funding/guides/> under *To prepare or edit a Working Paper. These guidelines also apply to interim and final reports and are updated from time to time.
